

LinkTech Quick Couplings Inc. is an American manufacturer of quick couplings and valves. LinkTech's expertise encompasses precision injection molding, plastic joining, machining and assembly of critical zero leak valves and connectors.

LinkTech's management team has over 26 years' experience in manufacturing high quality, easy to use industry standard and custom quick couplings, valves, and fittings. LinkTech maintains a continual commitment to innovation and product development.

All engineering, product development, customer service, marketing, distribution and quality assurance are based at its California headquarters. LinkTech is ISO 9001:2008 Registered with an expansive quality control system that includes manufacturing lot control of every component which guarantees excellent quality and traceability.

It is LinkTech's mission to provide customers with the best product available, on-time delivery and excellent customer service, at the best possible cost. Because of our dedication to excellence, LinkTech is rapidly becoming the number one choice for quick coupling solutions to support its growing customer base which spans from a single user to fortune 100 world class manufacturers.

Trust

We have worked diligently to earn our reputation as the new experts in the quick coupling market.

Quality

Quality is the number one priority at LinkTech. We are committed to continuous improvements and are dedicated to providing safe, strong, and long lasting quick couplings.

Integrity

We believe in treating our customers, vendors, and employees with respect and dignity. We value honesty and trustworthiness in all matters and expect it every day in every transaction.

Leadership

We believe in delivering unsurpassed service: providing engineering, design, and technical assistance. We are dedicated to ship your order quickly, accurately and support you with assistance to help you grow your business.

Passion

People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care! Passionate care of our customers is one of our core values. It is a key focus in all of our activities.

